Tablet of Commendation

*Dear Professor Ashok Agarwal
Respected Director of Andrology of Cleveland Clinic*

Research and innovation are essential elements for development and improvement of scientific world. None could be achieved unless with dedication and steady efforts of reverend men.

Hereby, I would like to express my deepest gratitude for your presence in our center and your interesting and informative lecture on "Reproductive Potential in Patients with Cancer: Need for Semen Banking".

While appreciating your invaluable comments and guidelines for improvement of our center, I thank you for your great contribution by conferring this tablet of commendation on the occasion of your visit.

Hopping that by strengthening our mutual scientific cooperation, we can achieve more improvement in research and treatment activities in reproduction and infertility.
